

An Interactive Session On "Resume Preparation and Interview Readiness"

On 30th June 2025, Students' Counselling & Placement Cell, Polytechnic in Animal Husbandry, College of Veterinary Science & Animal Husbandry, KU, Junagadh, organized a lecture on "Resume Preparation and Interview Readiness" for the outgoing batch of 2025 in order to prepare the students for upcoming interviews. The presentation was given by Dr. D.N. Borakhatariya, Secretary, Students' Counselling & Placement Cell, PAH, Junagadh. There were a total of 30 (thirty) students present for the lecture. The lecture's main objectives were to arm participants with the knowledge they would need to ace a job interview, polish their interviewing skills, and successfully carry themselves on their resumes. The need for a well-written CV, resume writing, and an overview of the significance of interview skills were all topics covered by the speaker. The speaker emphasized the importance of comprehending and mastering the art of creating a resume, as well as how to present oneself effectively during interview sessions. He also gave a thorough explanation of resume writing approaches. Additionally, the speaker gave the students advice on how to be ready for online interviews. Additionally, he emphasized the value of maintaining good personal hygiene as well as appropriate body language, postures, etiquette, and mannerisms before participating in an online interview. The speaker also discussed a few interview questions that are frequently posed. Students learned how to write a compelling resume during the very interactive programme. The session was very interactive and taught students how to create an appealing resume.
